CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES.

THE first session of the sixth Congress, conformable to the constitution of government of the United States, commenced this day, and the Senate assembled at the city of Philadelphia.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1799.

Present,

From the state of New Hampshire,	the Honorable	John Langdon.
Massachusetts,	the Honorable	Benjamin Goodhue.
Rhode Island,	the Honorable	Theodore Foster.
Connecticut,	the Honorable	{ James Hillhouse, and { Uriah Tracy.
New York,	the Honorable	{ John Laurance, and { James Watson.
Pennsylvania,	the Honorable	William Bingham.
Kentucky,	the Honorable	Humphrey Marshall.
South Carolina,	the Honorable	Jacob Read, and
Georgia,	the Honorable	James Gunn.

The Honorable Joseph Anderson, appointed a Senator by the state of Tennessee, for the remainder of the term for which their late Senator Andrew Jackson, esquire, was appointed, the Honorable Abraham Baldwin, appointed a Senator by the state of Georgia, the Honorable John Brown, appointed a Senator by the state of Kentucky, the Honorable Samuel Dexter, appointed a Senator by the state of Massachusetts, the Honorable Samuel Livermore, appointed a Senator by the state of New Hampshire, and the Honorable William Hill Wells, appointed a Senator by the state of Delaware, severally produced their credentials, and took their seats in the Senate.

The Vice President being absent, the Senate proceeded to the election of a President pro tempore, as the constitution provides, and the Honorable Samuel Livermore was chosen.

On motion,

Ordered, That Mr. Read administer the oath required by law to the President of the Senate pro tempore.

The President administered the oath as the law prescribes to Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Brown, Dexter, and Wells.

On motion,

Ordered, That the Secretary wait upon the President of the United States, and acquaint him that a quorum of the Senate is assembled, and that, in the absence of the Vice President, they have elected the Honorable Samuel Livermore President of the Senate pro tempore.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate is assembled and ready to proceed to business, and that, in the absence of the Vice President, they have elected the Honorable Samuel Livermore President of the Senate pro tempore.

On motion,

Resolved, That each Senator be supplied, during the present session, with three such newspapers, printed in any of the states, as he may choose, provided, that the same be furnished at the rate usual for the annual charge of such papers.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Oswald, their Clerk, Mr. Condy, being indisposed:

Mr. President: A quorum of the House of Representatives is assembled, and have elected the Honorable Theodore Sedgwick their Speaker. And he withdrew.

On motion,

Ordered, That Messrs. Read and Bingham be a committee on the part of the Senate, together with such committee as the House of Representatives may appoint on their part, to wait on the President of the United States, and notify him that a quorum of the two houses is assembled, and ready to receive any communications that he may be pleased to make to them.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives therewith.

The President communicated a letter signed John Trumbull, presenting to the Senate of the United States impressions of two prints of the American revolution, which he had lately caused to be published; and the letter was read.

Ordered, That it lie on the table.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1799.

The Honorable William Cocke, appointed a Senator by the state of Tennessee, and the Honorable James Schureman, appointed a Senator by the state of New Jersey, in the room of John Rutherford, Esq. resigned, severally produced their credentials and took their seats in the Senate.

The President administered the oath prescribed by law to Mr. Cocke and Mr. Schureman.

The Honorable Henry Latimer, from the state of Delaware, and the Honorable James Ross, from the state of Pennsylvania, severally attended.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Oswald, their Clerk being detained by the ill state of his health:

Mr. President: A quorum of the House of Representatives is assembled, and they have appointed a joint committee on their part, together with such committee as the Senate may appoint on theirs, to wait on the President of the United States, and notify him that a quorum of the two Houses is assembled, and ready to receive any communications that he may be pleased to make to them. And he withdrew.

Mr. Read reported from the joint committee, appointed for the purpose, that they had waited on the President of the United States, and had notified him that a quorum of the two Houses of Congress were assembled; and that the President of the United States acquainted the committee, that he would meet the two Houses, this day, at 12 o'clock, in the chamber of the House of Representatives.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Oswald, in the absence of their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives are now ready to meet the Senate, in the chamber of that House, to receive such communications as the President of the United States shall be pleased to make to them. And he withdrew.

Whereupon, the Senate repaired to the chamber of the House of Representatives, for the purpose above expressed.

The Senate returned to their own chamber, and a copy of the speech of the President of the United States, this day addressed to both Houses of Congress, was read, as follows:

Gentlemen of the Senate,

and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

It is with peculiar satisfaction that I meet the Sixth Congress of the United States of America. Coming from all parts of the Union at this critical and interesting period, the members must be fully possessed of the sentiments and wishes of our constituents.

The flattering prospects of abundance, from the labors of the people, by land and by sea; the prosperity of our extended commerce, notwithstanding interruptions occasioned by the belligerent state of a great part of the world; the return of health, industry, and trade, to those cities, which have lately been afflicted with disease; and the various and inestimable advantages, civil and religious, which, secured under our happy frame of government, are continued to us unimpaired; demand of the whole American people sincere thanks to a benevolent Deity for the merciful dispensations of his Providence.

But, while these numerous blessings are recollected, it is a painful duty to advert to the ungrateful return which has been made for them, by some of the people, in certain counties of Pennsylvania, where, seduced by the arts and misrepresentations of designing men, they have openly resisted the law directing the valuation of houses and lands. Such defiance was given to the civil authority as rendered hopeless all further attempts, by judicial process, to enforce the execution of the law; and it became necessary to direct a military force to be employed, consisting of some companies of regular troops, volunteers, and militia, by whose zeal and activity, in co-operation with the judicial power, order and submission were restored, and many of the offenders arrested. Of these, some have been convicted of misdemeanors, and others, charged with various crimes, remain to be tried.

To give due effect to the civil administration of government, and to ensure a just execution of the laws, a revision and amendment of the judiciary system is indispensably necessary. In this extensive country, it cannot but happen, that numerous questions respecting the interpretation of the laws and the rights and duties of officers and citizens must arise. On the one hand, the laws should be executed; on the other, individuals should be guarded from oppression: neither of these objects is sufficiently assured under the present organization of the Judicial Department. I therefore earnestly recommend the subject to your serious consideration.

Persevering in the pacific and humane policy which had been invariably professed, and sincerely pursued, by the Executive authority of the United States, when indications were made, on the part of the French Republic, of a disposition to accommodate the existing differences between the two countries, I felt it to be my duty to prepare for meeting their advances, by a nomination of ministers upon certain conditions which the honor of our country dictated, and which its moderation had given it a right to prescribe. The assurances which were required of the French government, previous to the departure of our envoys, have been given, through their minister of foreign relations; and I have directed them to proceed on their mission to Paris. They have full power to conclude a treaty, subject to the constitutional advice and consent of the Senate. The characters of these gentlemen are sure pledges to their country, that nothing incompatible with its honor or interest, nothing inconsistent with our obligations of good faith or friendship to any other nation, will be stipulated.

It appearing probable, from the information I received, that our commercial intercourse with some ports in the Island of St. Domingo might safely be renewed, I took such steps as seemed to me expedient to ascertain that point. The result being satisfactory, I then, in conformity with the act of Congress on the subject, directed the restraints and prohibitions of that intercourse to be discontinued, on terms which were made known by proclamation. Since the renewal of this intercourse, our citizens trading to those ports, with their property, have been duly respected, and privateering from those ports has ceased.

In examining the claims of British subjects by the commissioners at Philadelphia, acting under the sixth article of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, with Great Britain, a difference of opinion, on points deemed essential, in the interpretation of that article, has arisen between the commissioners appointed by the United States, and the other members of that board, from which the former have thought it their duty to withdraw. It is sincerely to be regretted, that the execution of an article produced by a mutual spirit of amity and justice should have been thus unavoidably interrupted. It is, however, confidently expected, that the same spirit of amity, and the same sense of justice, in which it originated, will lead to satisfactory explanations. In consequence of the obstacles to the progress of the commission in Philadelphia, his Britannic majesty has directed the commissioners appointed by him, under the 7th article of the treaty, relating to the British captures of American vessels, to withdraw from the board sitting in London: but with the express declaration of his determination to fulfil, with punctuality and good faith, the engagements which his majesty has contracted by his treaty with the United States; and that they will be instructed to resume their functions whenever the obstacles which impede the progress of the commission at Philadelphia shall be removed. It being, in like manner, my sincere determination, so far as the same depends on me, that, with equal punctuality and good faith, the engagements contracted by the United States, in their treaties with his Britannic majesty, shall be fulfilled, I shall immediately instruct our minister at London to endeavor to obtain the explanations necessary to a just performance of those engagements on the part of the United States. With such dispositions on both sides, I cannot entertain a doubt, that all difficulties will soon be removed, and that the two boards will then proceed and bring the business committed to them respectively to a satisfactory conclusion.

The act of Congress relative to the seat of the government of the United States requiring that, on the first Monday of December next, it should be transferred from Philadelphia to the District chosen for its permanent seat, it is proper for me to inform you that the commissioners appointed to provide suitable buildings for the accommodation of Congress, and of the President, and of the public offices of the government, have made a report of the state of the buildings designed for those purposes in the City of Washington; from which they conclude, that the removal of the seat of government to that place, at the time required, will be practicable, and the accommodation satisfactory. Their report will be laid before you.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I shall direct the estimates of the appropriations necessary for the service of the ensuing year, together with an account of the revenue and expenditure, to be laid before you. During a period in which a great portion of the civilized world has been involved in a war unusually calamitous and destructive, it was not to be expected that the United States could be exempted from extraordinary burthens. Although the period is not arrived, when the measures adopted to secure our country against foreign attacks can be renounced, yet it is alike necessary for the honor of the government, and the satisfaction of the community, that an exact economy should be maintained. I invite you, gentlemen, to investigate the different branches of the public expenditure: the examination will lead to beneficial retrenchments, or produce a conviction of the wisdom of the measures to which the expenditure relates.

Gentlemen of the Senate,

and Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

At a period like the present, when momentous changes are occurring, and every hour is preparing new and great events in the political world; when a spirit of war is prevalent in almost every nation with whose affairs the interests of the United States have any connexion; unsafe and precarious would be our situation were we to neglect the means of maintaining our just rights. The result of the mission to France is uncertain; but, however it may terminate, a steady perseverance in a system of national defence, commensurate with our resources, and the situation of our country, is an obvious dictate of wisdom. For, remotely as we are placed from the belligerent nations, and desirous as we are, by doing justice to all, to avoid offence to any, nothing short of the power of repelling aggressions will secure to our country a rational prospect of escaping the calamities of war or national degradation. As to myself, it is my anxious desire so to execute the trust reposed in me, as to render the people of the United States prosperous and happy. I rely, with entire confidence, on your co-operation in objects equally your care; and that our mutual labors will serve to increase and confirm union among our fellow-citizens, and an unshaken attachment to our government.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, December 3, 1799.

On motion,

Ordered, That Messrs. Ross, Read, and Tracy, be a committee to report the draught of an address to the President of the United States, in answer to his speech this day to both Houses.

On motion,

Ordered, That the speech of the President of the United States, this day communicated to both Houses of Congress, be printed for the use of the Senate.

On motion,

Resolved, That two chaplains, of different denominations, be appointed to Congress for the present session, one by each House, who shall interchange weekly.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives therewith.

The Senate proceeded to the appointment of a chaplain to Congress on their part, and the Right Reverend Bishop White was unanimously elected.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives therewith.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1799.

The Senate assembled, and

Adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1799.

The Honorable Jonathan Dayton, appointed a Senator by the state of New Jersey, and the Honorable Ray Greene, appointed a Senator by the state of Rhode Island, severally produced their credentials, and took their seats in the Senate.

The President administered the oath prescribed by law to Mr. Dayton and Mr. Greene.

A message from the House of Representatives by Mr. Oswald, in the absence of their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives concur in the resolution for the appointment of Chaplains, and have elected the Reverend Doctor Ashbel Green a chaplain to Congress on their part. And he withdrew.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

I transmit to Congress certain documents which have relation to the communications made on Tuesday, on the subjects of the insurrection in Pennsylvania; the renewal of commerce with St. Domingo; and the mission to the French republic.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, December 5, 1799.

The message and papers therein referred to were read.

Ordered, That they lie for consideration, and that the message and papers be printed for the use of the Senate.

Mr. Anderson presented the petition of Samuel Glass and others, praying compensation for a number of horses, stated to have been stolen from them by certain Indians on the frontiers; which was read, and,

On motion,

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Anderson, Hillhouse, and Goodhue, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1799.

Mr. Dexter notified the Senate, that he should, on Monday next, ask leave to bring in a bill to revive the act, entitled "An act for the relief of persons imprisoned for debt."

Mr. Ross, from the committee appointed to draught an address, in answer to the speech of the President of the United States, to the two Houses of Congress at the opening of the session, made a report; which was read.

Ordered, That it lie for consideration.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1799.

The Honorable Elijah Paine, from the state of Vermont, attended.

The President laid before the Senate a letter from Samuel Meredith, Treasurer, together with his Specie, War, and Navy, accounts, ending the 31st of December, 1798, March 31st, and June 30th, 1799, and Navy and War accounts to September 30th, 1799; which were read.

Ordered, That they lie on file.

Agreeable to notice given, Mr. Dexter had leave to bring in a bill to revive the act, entitled "An act for the relief of persons imprisoned for debt," which was read; and,

On motion,

It was agreed, by unanimous consent, to dispense with the rule, and that this bill be now read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Dexter, Laurance, and Tracy, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The Senate proceeded to consider the report of the committee of the draught of an address in answer to the speech of the President of the United States to both Houses of Congress, at the opening of the session; which, being read in paragraphs, was adopted, as follows:

To the President of the United States:

Accept, Sir, the respectful acknowledgments of the Senate of the United States for your speech delivered to both Houses of Congress at the opening of the present session.

While we devoutly join you in offering our thanks to Almighty God for the return of health to our cities, and for the general prosperity of the country, we cannot refrain from lamenting that the arts and calumnies of factious designing men have excited open rebellion a second time in Pennsylvania; and thereby compelled the employment of a military force to aid the civil authority in the execution of the laws. We rejoice that your vigilance, energy, and well-timed exertions, have crushed so daring an opposition, and prevented the spreading of such treasonable combinations. The promptitude and zeal displayed by the troops called to suppress this insurrection deserve our highest commendation and praise, and afford a pleasing proof of the spirit and alacrity with which our fellow-citizens are ready to maintain the authority of our excellent government.

Knowing, as we do, that the United States are sincerely anxious for a fair and liberal execution of the treaty of amity, commerce, and navigation, entered into with Great Britain, we learn, with regret, that the progress of adjustment has been interrupted by a difference of opinion among the commissioners. We hope, however, that the justice, the moderation, and the obvious interests of both parties will lead to satisfactory explanations, and that the business will then go forward to an amicable close of all differences and demands between the two countries. We are fully persuaded that the Legislature of the United States will cheerfully enable you to realize your assurances of performing, on our part, all engagements under our treaties with punctuality, and the most scrupulous good faith.

When we reflect upon the uncertainty of the result of the late mission to France; and upon the uncommon nature, extent, and aspect, of the war now raging in Europe; which affects materially our relations with the powers at war, and which has changed the condition of their colonies in our neighborhood: we are of opinion, with you, that it would be neither wise nor safe to relax our measures of defence, or to lessen any of our preparations to repel aggression.

Our inquiries and attention shall be carefully directed to the various other important subjects which you have recommended to our consideration; and from our experience of your past administration, we anticipate, with the highest confidence, your strenuous co-operation in all measures which have a tendency to promote and extend our national interests and happiness.

SAMUEL LIVERMORE,

Ordered, That the committee who prepared the address wait on the President of the United States, and desire him to acquaint the Senate at what time and place it will be most convenient for him that it should be presented.

Mr. Ross reported, from the committee, that they had waited on the President of the United States, and that he would receive the address of the Senate to-morrow at 12 o'clock, at his own house.

Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Senate will, to-morrow at 12 o'clock, wait on the President of the United States accordingly.

Mr. Ross notified the Senate that he should to-morrow ask leave to bring in a bill to revive certain suits and process in the circuit court for the district of Pennsylvania, which have been discontinued.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1799.

Agreeable to the resolution of yesterday, the Senate waited on the President of the United States, and the President of the Senate, in their name, presented the address then agreed to.

To which the President of the United States was pleased to make the following reply:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I thank you for this address. I wish you all possible success and satisfaction in your deliberations on the means which have a tendency to promote and extend our national interests and happiness; and I assure you that, in all your measures directed to those great objects, you may, at all times, rely with the highest confidence on my cordial co-operation.

The praise of the Senate, so judiciously conferred on the promptitude and zeal of the troops, called to suppress the insurrection, as it falls from so high authority, must make a deep impression, both as a terror to the disobedient, and an encouragement of such as do well.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, December 10, 1799.

The Senate returned to their own chamber.
 After the consideration of the Executive business,
 The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1799.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Oswald, in the absence of their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives have passed the bill sent from the Senate, entitled "An act for reviving and continuing suits and proceedings in the circuit court for the district of Pennsylvania." They have appointed a joint committee, on their part, for enrolled bills, and desire the appointment of a joint committee on the part of the Senate. And he withdrew.

On motion,

Ordered, That Mr. Wells be of the joint committee for enrolled bills on the part of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Secretary notify the House of Representatives of the appointment.

The Senate took into consideration the report of the committee on the petition of Margaret Lapsley, and agreed thereto.

Mr. Tracy, from the committee to whom was referred the letter signed John Trumbull, of 20th September, 1798, reported a resolution, which was adopted, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate of the United States accept the prints presented by John Trumbull, Esq. and that their President be requested to inform him, that while they respect the delicacy which dictated the manner of offering this elegant present, they consider their country honored by the genius of one of her sons, by whom these prints are happily designed, to perpetuate two memorable scenes in her progress to independence, and to preserve in lively recollection the names and virtues of heroes who fell in her defence.

On motion,

Ordered, That Messrs. Dayton, Marshall, and Tracy, be a committee to prepare and report a bill providing for the renewal of the certificates of the debt of the United States which have been destroyed or lost.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1799.

The Senate met, and adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1799.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

The letter herewith transmitted will inform you that it has pleased Divine Providence to remove from this life our excellent fellow-citizen George Washington; by the purity of his character and a long series of services to his country rendered illustrious through the world. It remains for an affectionate and grateful people, in whose hearts he can never die, to pay suitable honors to his memory.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, December 19, 1799.

The message and letter were read.

Ordered, That they lie for consideration.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Oswald, in the absence of their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives having received intelligence of the death of their highly-valued fellow-citizen, General George Washington, and sharing the universal grief this distressing event must produce, have Resolved, That a joint committee be appointed, to report measures suitable to the occasion, and expressive of the profound sorrow with which Congress is penetrated on the loss of a citizen, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen; and having appointed a committee on their part, desire the concurrence of the Senate. And he withdrew.

The Senate proceeded to consider the foregoing resolution of the House of Representatives.

Whereupon,

Resolved, That they do concur therein, and that Messrs. Dayton, Bingham, Dexter, Gunn, Laurance, Tracy, and Read, be the committee on the part of the Senate.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives with the concurrence.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Senate will wait on the President of the United States, to condole with him on the distressing event of the death of General George Washington; and that a committee be appointed to prepare, for that occasion, an address to the President of the United States expressive of the deep regret of the Senate; and that this committee consist of Messrs. Dexter, Ross, and Read.

On motion,

Resolved, That the chairs in the Senate Chamber be covered, and the room hung with black, and that each member, and the officers of the Senate, go into mourning, by the usual mode of wearing a crape round the left arm, during the session.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1799.

The Honorable Timothy Bloodworth, from the state of North Carolina, and the Honorable John E. Howard, from the state of Maryland, severally attended.

Mr. Dexter, from the committee appointed for the purpose on the 18th inst. reported the draught of an address to the President of the United States, on the death of General George Washington; which being read in paragraphs, was adopted, as follows:

To the President of the United States:

The Senate of the United States respectfully take leave, sir, to express to you their deep regret for the loss their country sustains in the death of General George Washington.

This event, so distressing to all our fellow-citizens, must be peculiarly heavy to you, who have long been associated with him in deeds of patriotism. Permit us, sir, to mingle our tears with yours; on this occasion it is manly to weep. To lose such a man, at such a crisis, is no common calamity to the world: our country mourns her Father. The Almighty Disposer of human events has taken from us our greatest benefactor and ornament. It becomes us to submit with reverence to him who "maketh darkness his pavilion."

With patriotic pride we review the life of our Washington, and compare him with those of other countries, who have been pre-eminent in fame. Ancient and modern names are diminished before him. Greatness and guilt have too often been allied; but his fame is whiter than it is brilliant. The destroyers of nations stood abashed at the majesty of his virtue. It reprov'd the intemperance of their ambition, and darkened the splendor of victory. The scene is closed, and we are no longer anxious lest misfortune should sully his glory; he has travelled on to the end of his journey and carried with him an increasing weight of honor; he has deposited it safely, where misfortune cannot tarnish it, where malice cannot blast it. Favored of heaven, he departed without exhibiting the weakness of humanity. Magnanimous in death, the darkness of the grave could not obscure his brightness.

Such was the man whom we deplore. Thanks to God! his glory is consummated; Washington yet lives—on earth in his spotless example—his spirit is in Heaven.

Let his countrymen consecrate the memory of the heroic general, the patriotic statesman, and the virtuous sage; let them teach their children never to forget that the fruit of his labors and his example are their inheritance.

SAMUEL LIVERMORE,

Ordered, That the committee who prepared the address wait on the President of the United States and desire him to acquaint the Senate at what time and place it will be most convenient for him that it should be presented.

Mr. Dexter reported, from the committee, that they had waited on the President of the United States, and that he had acquainted them that he would receive the address of the Senate immediately, at his own house.

Whereupon, the Senate waited on the President of the United States, and the President of the Senate, in their name, presented the address this day agreed to.

To which the President of the United States was pleased to make the following reply:

Gentlemen of the Senate:

I receive, with the most respectful and affectionate sentiments, in this impressive address, the obliging expressions of your regard for the loss our country has sustained in the death of her most esteemed, beloved, and admired citizen.

In the multitude of my thoughts and recollections on this melancholy event, you will permit me only to say, that I have seen him in the days of adversity, in some of the scenes of his deepest distress and most trying perplexities; I have also attended him in his highest elevation, and most prosperous felicity, with uniform admiration of his wisdom, moderation, and constancy.

Among all our original associates in that memorable league of the continent in 1774, which first expressed the sovereign will of a free nation in America, he was the only one remaining in the general government. Although, with a constitution more enfeebled than his, at an age when he thought it necessary to prepare for retirement, I feel myself alone, bereaved of my last brother; yet I derive a strong consolation from the unanimous disposition which appears, in all ages and classes, to mingle their sorrows with mine, on this common calamity to the world.

The life of our Washington cannot suffer by a comparison with those of other countries who have been most celebrated and exalted by fame. The attributes and decorations of royalty could have only served to eclipse the majesty of those virtues which made him, from being a modest citizen, a more resplendent luminary. Misfortune, had he lived, could hereafter have sullied his glory only with those superficial minds, who, believing that characters and actions are marked by success alone, rarely deserve to enjoy it. Malice could never blast his honor, and envy made him a singular exception to her universal rule. For himself he had lived enough to life, and to glory. For his fellow-citizens, if their prayers could have been answered, he would have been immortal. For me his departure is at a most unfortunate moment. Trusting, however, in the wise and righteous dominion of Providence over the passions of men, and the results of their councils and actions, as well as over their lives, nothing remains for me but humble resignation.

His example is now complete, and it will teach wisdom and virtue to magistrates, citizens, and men, not only in the present age, but in future generations, as long as our history shall be read. If a Trajan found a Pliny, a Marcus Aurelius can never want biographers, eulogists, or historians.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, December 23, 1799.

The Senate returned to their own chamber.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The joint committee appointed on the part of the House of Representatives, on the 19th instant, on the receipt of the intelligence of the death of General George Washington, having made report to that House, they have agreed to sundry resolutions thereupon, in which they desire the concurrence of the Senate. And he withdrew.

The bill was read.

Ordered, That this bill pass to the second reading.

The following written message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Shaw, his Secretary:

Gentlemen of the Senate, and

Gentlemen of the House Representatives:

In compliance with the request in one of the resolutions of Congress, of the 21st of December last, I transmitted a copy of these resolutions, by my Secretary, Mr. Shaw, to Mrs. Washington, assuring her of the profound respect Congress will ever bear to her person and character; of their condolence in the late afflicting dispensation of Providence; and entreating her assent to the interment of the remains of General George Washington in the manner expressed in the first resolution. As the sentiments of that virtuous lady, not less beloved by this nation than she is at present greatly afflicted, can never be so well expressed as in her own words, I transmit to Congress her original letter.

It would be an attempt of too much delicacy to make any comments upon it; but there can be no doubt that the nation at large, as well as all the branches of the government, will be highly gratified by any arrangement which may diminish the sacrifice she makes of her individual feelings.

JOHN ADAMS.

United States, January 8, 1800.

The letter is as follows:

MOUNT VERNON, December 31, 1799.

SIR: While I feel with keenest anguish the late dispensation of Divine Providence, I cannot be insensible to the mournful tributes of respect and veneration which are paid to the memory of my dear deceased husband; and, as his best services, and most anxious wishes, were always devoted to the welfare and happiness of his country, to know that they were truly appreciated and gratefully remembered affords no inconsiderable consolation.

Taught by the great example which I have so long had before me, never to oppose my private wishes to the public will, I must consent to the request made by Congress, which you have had the goodness to transmit to me; and, in doing this, I need not, I cannot, say what a sacrifice of individual feeling I make to a sense of public duty.

With grateful acknowledgments, and unfeigned thanks, for the personal respect and evidences of condolence, expressed by Congress and yourself,

I remain, very respectfully, Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant,

MARTHA WASHINGTON.

The President of the United States.

Ordered, That the message and letter be referred to the joint committee appointed on the 19th December last, to report suitable measures in honor of the memory of General George Washington, deceased.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Whereas, on the 19th day of February, now last past, the Senate of the United States, being in session, in the city of Philadelphia, the following publication was made in the newspaper, printed in the said city of Philadelphia, called the General Advertiser, or Aurora, viz.

"In our paper of the 27th ult. we noticed the introduction of a measure into the Senate of the United States, by Mr. Ross, calculated to influence and affect the approaching presidential election, and to frustrate, in a particular manner, the wishes and interests of the people of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

"We this day lay before the public a copy of that bill as it has passed the Senate.

"Some curious facts are connected with this measure, and the people of the Union at large are intermediately, and the people of this state immediately, interested to consider the movements, the mode of operation, and the effects.

"We noticed a few days ago the caucuses (or secret consultations) held in the Senate Chamber. An attempt was made in an evening paper to give a counteraction (for these people are admirable at the system of intrigue) to the developement of the Aurora, and to call those meetings jacobinical; we must cordially assent to the jacobinism of those meetings—they were in the perfect spirit of a jacobinical conclave.

"The plain facts we stated are, however, unquestionable; but we have additional information to give on the subject of those meetings. We stated, that intrigues for the presidential election were among the objects. We now state it as a fact that cannot be disputed upon fair ground, that the bill we this day present was discussed at the caucus on Wednesday evening last.

"It is worthy of remark how this bill grew into existence.

"The opponents of independence and republican government, who supported Mr. Ross in the contest against governor M'Kean, are well known by the indecent, the slander, and the falsehood, of the measures they pursued—and it is well known that they are all devoted to the federal party which we dissected on Monday. Mr. Ross proposed this bill in the federal Senate, (how consistently with the decency of his friends will be seen,) a committee of five was appointed to prepare a bill on the subject: on this committee, Mr. Pinckney, of South Carolina, was appointed. On Thursday morning last (the caucus held the preceding evening) Mr. Ross informed Mr. Pinckney that the committee had drawn up a bill on the subject, when in fact Mr. Pinckney had never been consulted on the subject, though a member of the committee! The bill was introduced and passed as below.

"On this occasion it may not be impertinent to introduce an anecdote which will illustrate the nature of caucuses, and show that our popular government may, in the hands of a faction, be as completely abused as the French constitution has been, by the self-created consuls:

"In the summer session of 1798, when federal thunder and violence were belched from the pestiferous lungs of more than one despotic minion, a caucus was held at the house of Mr. Bingham, in this city. It was composed of members of the Senate, and there were present seventeen members. The Senate consisting of thirty-two members, this number was of course a majority, and the session was a full one.

"Prior to deliberation on the measures of war, navy, army, democratic proscription, &c. &c. it was proposed, and agreed to, that all the members present should solemnly pledge themselves to act firmly upon the measures to be agreed upon by the majority of the persons present at the caucus.

"The measures were perfectly in the high tone of that extraordinary session. But upon a division of the caucus it was found that they were divided nine against eight. This majority, however, held the minority to their engagement, and the whole seventeen voted in Senate upon all the measures discussed at the caucus.

"Thus it is seen that a secret self-appointed meeting of seventeen persons dictated laws to the United States, and not only that nine of that seventeen had the full command and power over the consciences and votes of the other eight, but that nine possessed, by the turpitude of the eight, actually all the power which the constitution declares shall be invested in the majority only.

"In other words, a minority of nine members of the Senate ruled the other twenty-three members.

"It is easily conceivable, as in the recent changes in France, that this spirit of caucusing may be conducted in progression down to two or three persons; thus three leading characters may agree to act upon measures approved by any two of them these three may add two others, and they would be a majority of five; and those adding four others would be a majority of nine; and this nine possess all the power of a majority of twenty-three!

"Yet such is the way we are treated—by those who call themselves federalists.

"The following bill is an offspring of this spirit of faction secretly working; and it will be found to be in perfect accord with the outrageous proceedings of the same party in our state legislature, who are bent on depriving this state of its share in an election that may involve the fate of the country and posterity."

Resolved, That the said publication contains assertions and pretended information, respecting the Senate, and the Committee of the Senate and their proceedings, which are false, defamatory, scandalous, and malicious, tending to defame the Senate of the United States, and to bring them into contempt and disrepute, and to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States: and that the said publication is a high breach of the privileges of this House.

Resolved, That William Duane, now residing in the city of Philadelphia, the editor of the said newspaper called the General Advertiser, or Aurora, be, and he is hereby, ordered to attend at the bar of this House, on Monday, the 24th day of March, inst. at 12 o'clock, at which time he will have opportunity to make any proper defence for his conduct, in publishing the aforesaid false, defamatory, scandalous, and malicious assertions and pretended information; and the Senate will then proceed to take further order on the subject: and a copy of this and the foregoing resolution, under the authentication of the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, and attested as a true copy by James Mathers, Sergeant-at-Arms for the said Senate, and left by the said Sergeant-at-Arms with the said William Duane, or at the office of the Aurora, on or before the 22d day of March, inst. shall be deemed sufficient notice for the said Duane to attend in obedience to this resolution.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives have passed a bill, entitled "An act for the relief of John Collet," in which they desire the concurrence of the Senate. The President of the United States hath notified the House of Representatives, that he, on the 19th instant, approved and signed "An act to alter the times of holding the district court in North Carolina." And he withdrew.

The bill first mentioned in the message was read.

Ordered, That it pass to the second reading.

The Senate resumed the second reading of the bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to establish an uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States."

On motion, to strike out the proviso, at the end of the 10th section, as follows:

"Provided always, that in case of a bona fide purchase made before the issuing of the commission from or under such bankrupt, for a valuable consideration, by any person having no knowledge, information, or notice, of any act of bankruptcy committed, such purchase shall not be invalidated, or impeached."

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Livermore, Paine, and Marshall, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act supplemental to the act, entitled 'An act for an amicable settlement of limits with the state of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a government in the Mississippi territory,'" was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Gunn, Ross, and Dexter, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to enable the President of the United States to borrow money for the public service," was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Read, Bingham, and Hillhouse, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act for the relief of John Collet," was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Goodhue, Bingham, and Laurance, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The Senate took into consideration the amendment, reported by the committee, to the bill, entitled "An act for the relief of Campbell Smith;" and having agreed thereto,

Ordered, That this bill pass to the third reading as amended.

Mr. Foster, from the committee to whom was referred the bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act for the relief of Thomas Arnold," reported the bill without amendment.

On motion,

Ordered, That the Committee of Privileges prepare and lay before the Senate a form of proceedings in the case of William Duane.

The Senate took into consideration the amendments reported by the committee to the bill prescribing the mode of deciding disputed elections of President and Vice President of the United States; and, having agreed thereto,

Ordered, That this bill pass to the third reading as amended.

Mr. Greene notified the Senate that he should, on Monday next, ask leave to bring in a bill to alter the time of holding the district court in Rhode Island.

On motion,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

SATURDAY, MARCH 22, 1800.

Mr. Dayton, from the Committee of Privileges, to whom it was referred to prepare and lay before the Senate a form of proceedings in the case of William Duane, reported in part; which report was read, amended, and agreed to, as follows:

When William Duane shall present himself at the bar of the House, in obedience to the order of the 20th inst. the President of the Senate is to address him as follows:

1st. William Duane:

You stand charged by the Senate of the United States, as editor of the newspaper called the General Advertiser, or Aurora, of having published in the same, on the 19th of February, now last past, false, scandalous, defamatory and malicious assertions, and pretended information, respecting the said Senate and committee of the Senate, and their proceedings, tending to defame the Senate of the United States, and to bring them into contempt and disrepute, and to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States; and therein to have been guilty of a high breach of the privileges of this house.

Then the Secretary shall read the resolutions of the Senate, passed the 20th instant, with the preamble; after which the President is to proceed as follows, viz.:

1st. Have you any thing to say in excuse or extenuation for said publication?

2dly. If he shall make no answer, the Sergeant-at-Arms shall take him into custody, and retire with him from the Senate chamber until the Senate shall be ready for a decision, at which time the Sergeant-at-Arms shall again set him at the bar of the house, and the President of the Senate is to pronounce to him the decision.

3dly. If he shall answer, he is to continue at the bar of the house until the testimony (if any be adduced) shall be closed and then he shall retire while the Senate are deliberating on the case; and when a decision is agreed upon, the said Duane, being notified of the time by the Sergeant-at-Arms, verbally, or by a written notice left at his office, shall appear at the bar of the house, and the President of the Senate is to pronounce to him the decision.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act for the relief of Campbell Smith," was read the third time.

Resolved, That this bill pass as amended.

Ordered, That the Secretary desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives in the amendments.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

MONDAY, MARCH 24, 1800.

The Vice President communicated a letter, signed William Duane, requesting to be heard by counsel, and have process awarded to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, on the summons served on him the 22d inst. for a high breach of the privileges of the Senate; which letter was read.

A motion was made that William Duane be permitted to be heard by counsel, agreeably to his request; and, after debate, the said William Duane appeared at the bar of the house, agreeably to the summons of the 22d instant; a return thereon having been made in the words following:

City of Philadelphia, March 21st, 1800.

Then I, the subscriber, Sergeant-at-Arms for the Senate of the United States, left a true and attested copy of the within at the office of the Aurora.

JAMES MATHERS.

And the charge against the said William Duane having been read, he repeated his request to be heard by counsel.

On which he was ordered to withdraw, and a motion was made as follows:

Resolved, That William Duane be permitted to be heard by counsel, he having appeared, agreeably to the order of the Senate, and requested that he might be heard by counsel. On which

A motion was made to strike out all the motion subsequent to the word "Duane," and insert, "having appeared at the bar of the Senate and requested to be heard by counsel on the charge against him for a breach of privileges of the Senate, he be allowed the assistance of counsel while personally attending at the bar of the Senate; who may be heard in denial of any facts charged against said Duane, or in excuse and extenuation of his offence." And,

On motion,

It was agreed to divide the motion, and that the question be taken on striking out; which passed

In the affirmative,	{ Yeas . . . . . 18,

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Anderson, Brown, Cocke, Langdon, Marshall, Mason, Nicholas, and Pinckney.

And the question being taken on the motion as amended,

It was

Resolved, That William Duane having appeared at the bar of the Senate, and requested to be heard by counsel, on the charge against him for a breach of privileges of the Senate, he be allowed the assistance of counsel while personally attending at the bar of the Senate, who may be heard in denial of any facts charged against said Duane, or in excuse and extenuation of his offence.

A motion was made that it be an instruction to the Committee of Privileges to report in what manner witnesses shall be compelled to attend the Senate in support of the charge against William Duane, and in his defence against that charge.

And, after debate, the further consideration thereof was postponed.

On motion,

Resolved, That a copy of the resolution last agreed to be sent to William Duane, and, at the same time, he be ordered to attend at the bar of this House, at 12 o'clock on Wednesday next.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condy, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives have passed a bill, entitled "An act for the relief of the corporation of Rhode Island College;" also, a bill, entitled "An act supplementary to the act to regulate trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, and to preserve peace on the frontiers;" in which bills they desire the concurrence of the Senate. And he withdrew.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1800.

Mr. Dexter, from the committee to whom was referred the bill sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to prevent the interference of any military force in certain elections," reported the bill without amendment.

Mr. Read, from the committee to whom was referred the bill sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to enable the President of the United States to borrow money for the public service," reported the bill without amendment.

The two bills yesterday brought up from the House of Representatives for concurrence were read.

Ordered, That they severally pass to the second reading.

The bill prescribing the mode of deciding disputed elections of President and Vice President of the United States was read the third time.

On motion to strike out the ten first sections, and insert—

Whereas, on an election of President and Vice President of the United States, questions may arise whether an elector has been appointed in a mode authorized by the legislature of his state or not: Whether the time at which he was chosen, and the day he gave his vote, were those determined by Congress: Whether he were not at the time a Senator or Representative of the United States, or held an office of trust or profit under the United States: Whether one at least of the persons he has voted for is an inhabitant of a state other than his own: Whether the electors voted by ballot, and have signed, certified, and transmitted to the President of the Senate, a list of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes for each: Whether the persons voted for are natural born citizens, or were citizens of the United States at the time of the adoption of the constitution, were thirty-five years old, and had been fourteen years resident within the United States: And the constitution of the United States having directed that "the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and that the votes shall then be counted," from which the reasonable inference and practice has been, that they are to be counted by the members composing the said Houses, and brought there for

SEC. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That whensoever the members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be assembled for the purpose of having the certificates of the electors of the several states opened and counted, the names of the several states shall be written on different and similar tickets of paper and put into a ballot box, out of which, one shall be drawn at a time, and so soon as one is drawn, the packet containing the certificates of that state shall be opened by the President of the Senate, and shall then be read, and then shall be read also the petitions, depositions, and other papers and documents, concerning the same; and, if no exception is taken thereto, the votes contained in such certificates shall be counted, but if the votes, or any of them, shall be objected to, the members present shall, on the question propounded by the President of the Senate, decide, without debate, by yea or nay, whether such votes or vote are constitutional or not, and the votes of one state being thus counted, another ticket shall be drawn from the ballot box, and the certificate, and the votes of the electors of the state drawn, shall be proceeded on as before directed, and so on, one after another, until the whole of the votes shall be counted, and, if the counting cannot be completed in one day, the members of the said two Houses may adjourn from day to day until it be completed: and

A motion was made to strike out of section 1st, lines 10 and 11, these words: "and finally to decide," and to insert "into and report upon;" and a division of the motion was called for, and that the question be first taken on striking out,

On motion that the papers referred to in the letter be read.

It passed in the negative.

On motion, the Senate took into consideration the report of the Committee of Privileges, who were ordered to prepare and lay before the Senate a form of proceedings in the case of William Duane; and, after debate,

The order of the day was called for; and

On motion,

Ordered, That the Sergeant-at-Arms, at the bar of the House, do call William Duane, and the said William Duane did not appear.

Whereupon, on motion,

Resolved, That as William Duane has not appeared at the bar of this House in obedience to the order of the 24th instant, and has addressed a letter to the President of the Senate, which has been read this morning, in which he refuses any further attendance, his letter be referred to the Committee of Privileges to consider and report thereon.

On motion,

The Senate resumed the consideration of the report of the Committee of Privileges of the 25th instant.

And on the question to agree to the first resolution, amended as follows:

Resolved, That all testimony shall be taken by the Committee of Privileges, who are hereby authorized to send for persons, papers, and records, and compel the attendance of witnesses which may become requisite for the execution of their commission:

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas . . . . . 18,
  { Nays . . . . . 11.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, Dexter, Foster, Goodhue, Greene, Hillhouse, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Lloyd, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, Franklin, Langdon, Marshall, Mason, Nicholas, and Pinckney.

On motion, the 4th resolution was adopted, as follows:

Resolved, That all testimony taken by said committee shall be reported to the Senate, and kept on file by the Secretary.

And, having agreed to postpone the other resolutions reported,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THURSDAY, MARCH 27, 1800.

The bill and resolutions, sent up from the House of Representatives on the 25th instant, for concurrence, were read.

Ordered, That the bill pass to the second reading.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Senate concur in the resolutions in honor of Captain Thomas Truxton, his officers, seamen, and marines.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives with the concurrence.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act supplementary to the act to regulate trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, and to preserve peace on the frontiers," was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Hillhouse, Paine, and Brown, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act for the relief of the corporation of Rhode Island College," was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Greene, Langdon, and Dexter, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

Mr. Dayton, from the Committee of Privileges, to whom was referred the letter of William Duane, on the 26th instant, made report, as follows:

Resolved, That William Duane, editor of the General Advertiser or Aurora, having neglected and refused to appear at the bar of this House at 12 o'clock, on the 26th day of March instant, pursuant to the order of the 24th instant, of which order he had been duly notified; and having sent the following letter to the President of the Senate, which has been communicated to the Senate, viz:

"To the President of the Senate:

"SIR: I beg of you to lay before the Senate this acknowledgment of my having received an authenticated copy of their resolutions on Monday last, in my case. Copies of those resolutions I transmitted to Messrs. Dallas and Cooper, my intended counsel, soliciting their professional aid; a copy of my letter is enclosed, marked A. Their answers I have also the pleasure to enclose, marked B and C. I find myself, in consequence of these answers, deprived of all professional assistance, under the restrictions which the Senate have thought fit to adopt. I therefore think myself bound by the most sacred duties to decline any further voluntary attendance upon that body, and leave them to pursue such measures in this case as, in their wisdom, they may deem meet.

"I am, sir, with perfect respect, is guilty of a contempt of said order, and of this House, and that, for said contempt, he, the said Wm. Duane, be taken into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms attending this House, to be kept subject to the further orders of the Senate.

"WM. DUANE."

On motion to agree to this first resolution reported,

It passed in the affirmative,	{	Yeas . . . . .	16,

Those who voted in the negative, are

Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, Dexter, Foster, Goodhue, Greene, Hillhouse, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Lloyd, Marshall, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

The second resolution reported was read, as follows:

Resolved, That a warrant issue signed by the President of the Senate, in the following form, viz:

UNITED STATES, }
The 27th day of March, 1800, } ss.

Whereas the Senate of the United States, on the 18th day of March, 1800, then being in session in the city of Philadelphia, did resolve that a publication in the General Advertiser, or Aurora, a newspaper printed in the said city of Philadelphia, on Wednesday, the 19th day of February, then last past, contained assertions and pretended information respecting the Senate, and committee of the Senate, and their proceedings, which were false, defamatory, scandalous, and malicious, tending to defame the Senate of the United States, and to bring them into contempt and disrepute, and to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States; and that the said publication was a high breach of the privileges of the House.

And whereas the Senate did then further resolve and order, that the said William Duane, resident in the said city, and editor of said newspaper, should appear at the bar of the House, on Monday, the 24th day of March, instant, that he might then have opportunity to make any proper defence for his conduct in publishing the aforesaid false, defamatory, scandalous, and malicious assertions and pretended information.

And whereas the said William Duane did appear on said day at the bar of the House, pursuant to said order, and requested counsel; and the Senate, by their resolution of the 24th day of March, instant,

Resolved, That William Duane, having appeared at the bar of the Senate, and requested to be heard by counsel on the charge against him for a breach of privileges of the Senate, he be allowed the assistance of counsel while personally attending at the bar of the Senate, who might be heard in denial of any facts charged against said

And whereas said William Duane, in contempt of the said last mentioned order, did neglect and refuse to appear at the bar of the said Senate, at the time specified therein; and the Senate of the United States, on the 27th day of March, instant, did thereupon resolve that the said William Duane was guilty of a contempt of said order and of the Senate, and that for said contempt he, the said William, should be taken into custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms attending the Senate, to be kept for their further orders. All which appears by the journals of the Senate of the United States, now in session in the said city of Philadelphia.

Given under my hand, this 27th day of March, 1800.

On motion, to agree to this resolution, as reported,

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present.

Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, Dexter, Foster, Goodhue, Greene, Hillhouse, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Lloyd, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, Franklin, Langdon, Marshall, Mason, Nicholas, and Pinckney.

The Senate resumed the second reading of the bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to establish an uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States."

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, Dexter, Foster, Greene, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Lloyd, Marshall, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, Franklin, Goodhue, Hillhouse, Langdon, Mason, Nicholas, and Pinckney.

Resolved, That this bill pass to the third reading.

Mr. Wells reported, from the committee, that they had examined and found duly enrolled the bill, entitled "An act for the relief of Campbell Smith."

The Senate resumed the third reading of the bill, prescribing the mode of deciding disputed elections of President and Vice President of the United States.

On motion, to strike out the 7th section, as follows:

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That the Grand Committee shall have power to inquire, examine, decide, and report, upon the constitutional qualifications of the persons voted for as President and Vice President of the United States; upon the constitutional qualifications of the electors appointed by the different states, and whether their appointment was authorized by the state legislature or not, or made according to the mode prescribed by the legislature; upon all petitions and exceptions against corrupt, illegal conduct of the electors, or force, menaces, or improper means used to influence their votes; or against the truth of their returns, or the time, place, or manner, of giving their votes: Provided always, That no petition, or exception, shall be granted or allowed by the Grand Committee, which shall have for its object, to draw into question the number of votes on which any elector in any of the states shall have been declared appointed:

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas . . . . . 15,
   { Nays . . . . . 12.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Bingham, Chipman, Dayton, Dexter, Foster, Goodhue, Greene, Latimer, Lloyd, Paine, Read, Ross, Schureman, Tracy, and Wells.

And, after debate, the further consideration of this bill was postponed.

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1800.

Mr. Livermore, from the committee to whom was referred the bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to extend the privilege of obtaining patents for useful discoveries and inventions, to certain persons therein mentioned, and to enlarge and define the penalties for violating the rights of patentees," reported amendments.

Ordered, That they lie for consideration.

The bill sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to alter the form of certain oaths and affirmations, directed to be taken by the act, entitled 'An act providing for the second census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States,'" was read the second time.

Ordered, That it be referred to Messrs. Ross, Paine, and Baldwin, to consider and report thereon to the Senate.

Mr. Laurance, from the committee to whom was referred, on the 11th instant, the petition of Robinson and Hartshorne, and others, reported that the prayer of the petition is reasonable; and the report was adopted.

Ordered, That Messrs. Laurance, Lloyd, and Tracy, be a committee to bring in a bill accordingly.

On motion,

Ordered, That the committee appointed on the 17th instant, to bring in a bill, on the petition of Jeremiah Yellott, be discharged; and that the committee last mentioned do bring in a bill on the subject of his petition.

Mr. Wells, from the committee, reported that they had examined the enrolled "Resolutions in honor of Captain Thomas Truxton, his officers, seamen, and marines," and that they were duly enrolled.

The bill, sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to establish an uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," was read the third time.

On the question, to agree to the final passage of this bill,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas . . . . . 16,
   { Nays . . . . . 12.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Anderson, Baldwin, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, Franklin, Goodhue, Hillhouse, Langdon, Mason, Nicholas, and Pinckney.

So it was

Resolved, That this bill pass.

Ordered, That the Secretary acquaint the House of Representatives with the concurrence of the Senate in this bill.

The Senate resumed the second reading of the bill sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act to prevent the interference of any military force in certain elections."

On motion,

Ordered, That the further consideration thereof be postponed until to-morrow.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The President of the United States hath notified the House of Representatives that he on the 29th instant approved and signed "An act for the relief of Campbell Smith;" also, "Resolutions in honor of Captain Thomas Truxton, his officers, seamen, and marines." The House of Representatives have passed a bill, entitled "An act to extend the privilege of franking letters and packages to Martha Washington;" a bill, entitled "An act fixing the rank and pay of the commanding officer of the corps of marines;" and a bill, entitled "An act to divide the territory of the United States northwest of the Ohio into two separate governments;" in which they desire the concurrence of the Senate. And he withdrew.

The bills were read.

Ordered, That they severally pass to the second reading.

The Senate resumed the second reading of the bill sent from the House of Representatives, entitled "An act for the relief of Thomas Arnold;" and

On the question to agree to the third reading of this bill,

It passed in the negative.

The Senate considered the amendment reported by the committee on the bill making certain appropriations for the year 1800; which was agreed to, and the bill passed to the third reading as amended.

Mr. Wells reported, from the committee, that they had examined and found duly enrolled the bill to amend the act to establish the judicial courts of the United States; the bill to authorize the issuing certain patents; and the bill directing the payment of a detachment of the militia under the command of Major Thomas Johnson, in the year 1794.

The Senate resumed the second reading of the bill to make provision relative to rations for Indians; and agreed that it pass to the third reading.

Mr. Anderson notified the Senate that he should to-morrow ask leave to bring in a bill to authorize the proper officer to settle the claim of John Pitchly.

The Senate considered the amendments reported to the bill making further provision for the children of Colonel John Harding and Major Alexander Trueman, deceased; and, having amended the report, it was adopted, and the bill passed to the third reading as amended.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to-morrow morning.

TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1800.

The bill making provision for persons imprisoned for debts due the United States was read the second time, and postponed to the next session of Congress; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives of the postponement.

Mr. Wells reported, from the committee, that they had this day examined and found duly enrolled the bill to retain a further sum on drawbacks in lieu of stamp duties.

The bill, entitled "An act appropriating a certain sum of money to defray the expense of holding a treaty or treaties with the Indians," was read the third time and passed with an amendment; and the Secretary desired the concurrence of the House of Representatives in the amendment.

The bill, entitled "An act to authorize certain expenditures, and to make certain appropriations for the year 1800," was read the third time and passed with an amendment; and the Secretary desired the concurrence of the House of Representatives therein.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condy, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The President of the United States, on the 10th instant, approved and signed "An act making appropriations for the navy of the United States for the year 1800," and, "An act to ascertain the compensation of public ministers." The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed several enrolled bills, I am directed to bring them to the Senate for the signature of the Vice President. And he withdrew.

The Vice President signed the four enrolled bills last reported to have been examined, and they were delivered to the committee, to be laid before the President of the United States.

The bill, entitled "An act making provision relative to rations for Indians, and to their visits to the seat of government," was read the third time and passed; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives of the concurrence.

The bill, entitled "An act making further provision for the children of Colonel John Harding and Major Alexander Trueman, deceased," was read the third time and passed, with an amendment; and the Secretary desired the concurrence of the House of Representatives in the amendment.

Mr. Hillhouse reported from the managers at the conference on the amendment to the bill to establish the mint: Whereupon,

Resolved, That the Senate do insist on their said amendment; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

The second reading of the bill to permit the introduction of slaves, in certain cases, into the Mississippi territory, was resumed; and it was agreed that it pass to the third reading.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condy, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives agree to the amendment of the Senate to the bill to authorize certain expenditures and appropriations for the year 1800; to the amendment of the Senate to the bill to appropriate a certain sum of money for holding treaties with the Indians; and to the amendment of the Senate to the bill to make further provision for the children of Colonel John Harding and Major Alexander Trueman. They adhere to their amendments to the bill to establish the mint. And he withdrew.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the motion made the 10th of May instant, respecting the election of President and Vice President of the United States; and, after debate, the further consideration thereof was postponed until the next session of Congress.

Mr. Anderson, from the committee to whom was referred the resolution repealing certain laws passed by the Governor and Judges of the Mississippi territory, reported an amendment, which was disagreed to, and the resolution postponed to the next session of Congress; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

The Senate considered the resolution of the House of Representatives, adhering to their amendment to the bill supplementary to the act establishing the mint.

Whereupon,

Resolved, That they do recede from their disagreement, and agree to the amendment of the House of Representatives; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

Mr. Tracy, from the committee to whom was referred the amendment of the House of Representatives to the bill supplementary to the act to suspend part of an act to augment the army of the United States, reported amendments thereto; which were read.

Ordered, That the committee be revived, and that the bill be recommitted for further consideration.

Mr. Wells reported, from the committee, that they had examined and found duly enrolled the bill to lay additional duties on certain articles imported; the bill to enlarge the powers of surveyors of the revenue; the bill to make provision relative to rations for Indians; the bill to appropriate a certain sum of money to defray the expense of holding a treaty or treaties with the Indians; and, the bill to authorize certain expenditures, and to make certain appropriations, for the year 1800. He also reported, that the committee this day laid before the President of the United States the bill appointing the time, and directing the place, of the next meeting of Congress; the bill to amend an act, entitled "An act to establish the judicial courts of the United States;" the bill to authorize the issuing certain patents; and the bill directing the payment of a detachment of militia under the command of Major Thomas Johnson, in the year 1794.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed several enrolled bills, I am directed to bring them to the Senate for the signature of the Vice President. And he withdrew.

The Vice President signed the six enrolled bills last reported to have been examined, and they were delivered to the committee, to be laid before the President of the United States.

Mr. Wells reported from the committee that they had laid the bills last reported to have been examined before the President of the United States.

Mr. Tracy, from the committee, reported further amendment to the bill supplementary to the act for augmenting the army; and the reported amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Ordered, That the Secretary ask concurrence therein.

After the consideration of the Executive business,

The Senate adjourned to 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 14, 1800.

The Vice President having, by letter, intimated his desire to be excused from further attendance, as it would probably be the last day of the session;

The Senate proceeded to the choice of a President pro tempore, as the constitution provides; and the Honorable Uriah Tracy was duly elected.

The Secretary notified the President of the United States, and also the House of Representatives, of the election.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives agree to the amendment of the Senate to the amendments to the bill to suspend part of the act to augment the army of the United States. And he withdrew.

Mr. Ross, from the committee on the bill, entitled "An act regulating the grants of land appropriated for the refugees from the British provinces of Canada and Nova Scotia," reported an amendment, which was adopted; and it was agreed, by unanimous consent, that the bill be now read the third time.

Resolved, That this bill pass as amended.

Ordered, That the Secretary desire the concurrence of the House of Representatives therein.

The President of the United States, by his Secretary, notified the Senate that he, on the 13th instant, approved and signed "An act prescribing the time and place for the next meeting of Congress; also, "An act in addition to the act to establish the judicial courts of the United States;" and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

The bill, entitled "An act to permit, in certain cases, the bringing of slaves into the Mississippi territory," was read the third time; and, on the question to agree to the final passage thereof,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas . . . . . 5,
  { Nays . . . . . 14.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Anderson, Cocke, Marshall, Pinckney, and Read.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Baldwin, Bingham, Bloodworth, Brown, Dayton, Foster, Franklin, Greene, Hillhouse, Laurance, Livermore, Mason, Morris, and Ross.

So the bill was lost; and the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly,

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives disagree to the amendment of the Senate to the bill regulating the grants of land for the refugees from the British provinces of Canada and Nova Scotia. And he withdrew.

The Senate considered the resolution of the House of Representatives on the amendment of the Senate to the bill last mentioned.

Resolved, That they adhere to their amendment.

Ordered, That the Secretary notify the House of Representatives accordingly.

Mr. Wells, from the committee, reported that they had examined, and found duly enrolled, the bill to suspend part of an act to augment the army of the United States; the bill making provision for the children of Col. John Harding and Major Alexander Trucman; and the bill supplementary to the act establishing the mint.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The Speaker of the House of Representatives having signed several enrolled bills, I am directed to bring them to the Senate, for the signature of the President. The President of the United States, on the 13th instant, approved and signed "An act to authorize the issuing of certain patents;" "An act directing the payment of the militia under the command of Major Thomas Johnson in the year 1794;" "An act to retain a further sum on drawbacks in lieu of stamp duties on debentures;" "An act to make provision relative to rations for Indians;" "An act to lay additional duties on certain articles imported;" "An act to allow certain expenditures for the year 1800;" "An act to enlarge the powers of the surveyors of the revenue;" and "An act to defray the expense of holding a treaty or treaties with the Indians." And he withdrew.

The President of the Senate signed the three enrolled bills last reported to have been examined, and they were delivered to the committee, to be laid before the President of the United States.

Mr. Ross, from the committee on the bill making grants of lands to the inhabitants of Vincennes and Illinois country, reported the bill without amendment; and it was agreed to postpone the bill to the next session of Congress; of which the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

On motion,

Ordered, That the committee to whom was referred the bill to establish trading houses with the Indians be discharged; that the bill be postponed to the next session of Congress; and that the Secretary notify the House of Representatives of the postponement.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The House of Representatives have postponed, until the next session of Congress, the bill regulating the grants of land to the refugees from the British provinces of Canada and Nova Scotia. They have appointed a committee on their part, with such as the Senate may join, to wait on the President of the United States and notify him that, unless he hath any further communications to make to the two Houses of Congress, they are ready to adjourn; and they desire the appointment of a committee on the part of the Senate. And he withdrew.

Mr. Wells, from the committee, reported that they this day laid before the President of the United States the three bills last reported to have been examined.

Mr. Bingham presented an additional remonstrance and petition of a number of "citizens of the republic of America, residing in the city and county of Philadelphia," praying the Senate to "reconsider the resolutions by them adopted on the subject of privilege in the case of William Duane."

And on motion that the remonstrance be read,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas . . . . . 7,
  { Nays . . . . . 12.

The yeas and nays being required by one-fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Baldwin, Bingham, Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, Franklin, and Mason.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Dayton, Foster, Greene, Gunn, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Morris, Read, Ross, Tracy, and Wells.

On motion,

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be, and he is hereby, authorized to pay to James Mathers, acting as Sergeant-at-Arms to the Senate, out of the contingent fund, the sum of one hundred dollars, for extra services during the session.

The President of the United States notified the Senate, by his Secretary, that he this day approved and signed "An act supplementary to the act establishing the mint;" and "An act supplementary to the act to suspend part of an act for augmenting the army of the United States."

Ordered, That the House of Representatives be notified accordingly.

A message from the House of Representatives, by Mr. Condry, their Clerk:

Mr. President: The President of the United States hath notified the House of Representatives that he this day approved and signed "An act to make further provision for the children of Col. John Harding. and Major Alexander Trueman, deceased."

The Senate agreed to the resolution of the House of Representatives appointing a committee, jointly with such as the Senate may appoint, to wait on the President of the United States, and notify him of the proposed adjournment of the two Houses of Congress; and it was agreed that Messrs. Bingham and Wells be the committee on the part of the Senate; of which the Secretary notified the House of Representatives accordingly.

Mr. Bingham reported, from the joint committee last mentioned, that the President of the United States had no further communication to make to Congress at this time than his best wishes for their safe return to their respective places of abode.

On motion that it be

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to instruct the proper law officer to commence and carry on a prosecution against William Duane, editor of the newspaper called the Aurora, for certain false, defamatory, scandalous, and malicious publications in the said newspaper, of the 19th of February last past, tending to defame the Senate of the United States, and to bring them into contempt and disrepute, and to excite against them the hatred of the good people of the United States:

It passed in the affirmative,    { Yeas . . . . . 13,
   { Nays . . . . . 4.

The yeas and nays being required by one fifth of the Senators present,

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Bingham, Dayton, Foster, Greene, Gunn, Latimer, Laurance, Livermore, Morris, Read, Ross, Tracy, and Wells.

Those who voted in the negative, are,

Messrs. Bloodworth, Brown, Cocke, and Franklin.

Ordered, That the Secretary lay an attested copy of the foregoing resolution before the President of the United States.

On motion,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Senate of the United States be presented to the Commissioners of the city and county of Philadelphia for the convenient and elegant accommodations furnished by them for the use of the Senate, during the residence of the national government in the city; and that the President of the Senate be requested to convey this resolution in a letter to the said Commissioners.

The President, agreeably to the joint resolution of the 12th instant, adjourned the Senate, to meet again on the third Monday of November next, as the law provides.

APPENDIX.

---

A.

The committee on the petition of Thomas Burling and others Report :

That the petitioners solicit an act of Congress for the confirmation of grants of land made by the Spanish government, prior to the treaty of April, 1796; and likewise for confirming the claims for lands to those who were occupants before that time.

They further request, in favor of those who have settled on vacant lands since the treaty with Spain, a priority of right to lands in that territory; and a grant of head rights to all who are now, or may hereafter become, settlers.

By the act of Congress for an amicable settlement of limits with the state of Georgia, and authorizing the establishment of a government in the Mississippi territory, a method is provided to settle all interfering claims to said lands, which settlement has not yet been effected. It is also declared, by said act, that the rights of the state of Georgia and of any other persons claiming in that territory, shall remain unimpaired by said act.

The committee are of opinion it will be improper for the legislature of the Union to do any thing upon the subject of said petition, while the interfering claims to the lands in said territory remain unsettled. They therefore report that the prayer of said petition is unreasonable.

B.

The committee on the letter signed John Henderson to Winthrop Sargent, Governor, Report :

That the inhabitants of the Mississippi territory request an appropriation of lands in the territory by Congress, for the support of "clergymen and seminaries of learning, and such like purposes," in the same manner that appropriations have been made in the northwestern territory.

The committee are of opinion that the unsettled condition of claims to lands in the Mississippi territory renders it improper at this time to make appropriations of lands for any purposes.

They therefore report that the request of said inhabitants is unreasonable.

C.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of Joseph Russell and others, Report :

That the petitioners, as holders of certain bills of credit, (commonly called new emission bills,) emitted agreeably to a resolution of Congress of the 18th of March, 1780, pray of the United States payment of the interest on those bills; the parts of that resolution illustrating the principles upon which they were emitted, are as follows:

"Resolved, That the several states continue to bring into the continental treasury, by taxes or otherwise, their full quotas of fifteen millions dollars monthly, as assigned them by the resolution of the 7th of October, 1779; a clause in the resolution of the 23d of February last, for relinquishing two-thirds of the said quotas, to the contrary notwithstanding; and that the states be further called on to make provision for continuing to bring into the said treasury their like quotas monthly, to the month of April, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-one, inclusive:

“That silver and gold be receivable in payment of the said quotas, at the rate of one Spanish milled dollar, in lieu of forty dollars of the bills now in circulation.

“That the said bills as paid in, except for the months of January and February past, which may be necessary for the discharge of past contracts, be not re-issued but destroyed.

“That as fast as the said bills shall be brought in to be destroyed and funds shall be established, as hereafter mentioned, for other bills, other bills be issued, not to exceed, on any account, one-twentieth part of the nominal sum of the bills brought in to be destroyed.

“That the bills which shall be issued be redeemable in specie, within six years after the present, and bear an interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, to be paid also in specie, at the redemption of the bills, or at the election of the holder, annually, at the respective continental loan offices, in sterling bills of exchange, drawn by the United States on their commissioners in Europe, at four shillings and six pence sterling per dollar:

“That the said new bills issue on the funds of individual states for that purpose established, and be signed by persons appointed by them, and that the faith of the United States be also pledged for the payment of said bills, in case any state, on whose funds they shall be emitted, should, by the events of war, be rendered incapable to redeem them; which undertaking of the United States, and that of drawing bills of exchange for payment of interest as aforesaid, shall be indorsed on the bills to be emitted, and signed by a commissioner to be appointed by Congress for that purpose.

“That the face of the bills to be emitted read as follows, viz:

“The possessor of this bill shall be paid — Spanish milled dollars by the thirty first day of December, 1786, with interest in like money, at the rate of five per cent. per annum, by the state of — according to an act of the legislature of the said state, of the — day of — 1780.

“And the indorsement shall be as follows, viz:

“The United States insure the payment of the within bill, and will draw bills of exchange for the interest annually, if demanded, according to a resolution of Congress of the 18th day of March, 1780.

“That the said new bills shall be struck under the direction of the board of treasury, in due proportion for each state, according to the said monthly quotas, and lodged in the continental loan offices in the respective states, when the commissioner to be appointed by Congress, in conjunction with such persons as the respective states appoint, shall attend the signing of said bills, which shall be completed no faster than in the aforesaid proportion of one to twenty of the other bills brought in to be destroyed, and which shall be lodged for that purpose in the said loan offices.

“That, as the said new bills are signed and completed, the states, respectively, on whose funds they issue, receive six-tenths of them, and that the remainder be subject to the orders of the United States, and credited to the states on whose funds they are issued, the accounts whereof shall be adjusted agreeably to the resolution of the 6th of October, 1779.

“That whenever interest on the bills to be emitted shall be paid prior to their redemption, such bills shall be thereupon exchanged for others of the like tenor, to bear date from the expiration of the year for which such interest is paid.

“That the several states be called on to provide funds for their quotas of the said new bills, to be so productive as to sink or redeem one-sixth part of them annually after the first day of January next.”

Conformably to which all the states, excepting North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, then invaded, were furnished with their several proportions of bills for emission, and, excepting Connecticut and Delaware, did issue various sums of them, which passed into circulation at a considerable discount from the nominal value, and which in circulation continued to depreciate.

Provision for redemption of bills of the above description, has been made by the states which issued them at different periods and rates of value: but those provisions seem not to have given satisfaction to all the creditors, as, under the act of Congress, passed February 12th, 1793, entitled “An act relative to claims against the United States not barred by any act of limitation, and which have not been already adjusted,” claims were lodged against the United States for payment of bills issued by the individual states as aforesaid, to amount of dollars,	90,642

Since withdrawn,	58,222
Remaining,	32,420

Upon any of which interest has not been paid by the United States, nor is proof shewn that demand for it was made, agreeably to said resolution. Such of the petitioners whose names are entered as claimants under said act of February 12th, 1793, appear to be holders of bills issued chiefly by the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Rhode Island.

The committee are informed that New Hampshire has provided for the redemption of those issued by that state, at the rate of one silver dollar for five dollars of their nominal amount.

Massachusetts, by the act funding the debt of that commonwealth, passed February 1st, 1794, provided for receiving on loan new emission bills of that state, "at the rate of one dollar silver for four dollars of those bills, calculating the interest due on their face up to July 1st, 1794, and issuing a certificate for the principal and interest at five per cent. payable semi-annually."

Rhode Island, by act of assembly, passed July (second session) 1780, providing for emitting bills conformably to the above resolution, ordered an annual tax for six years, as a fund for their redemption: a considerable sum of them has been paid into that state's treasury by tax; for those outstanding, no further provision has been made.

Upon this general view of the subject which presents itself, in considering the description of debt upon which interest is demanded, the committee are of opinion that the United States cannot be holden to make payment of interest on said bills, when there has not been demand made for such payment agreeably to the terms of said resolution of Congress, and the indorsement on them.

The committee do not decide, what would be the consequence, had such demand for payment of interest been proved; that subject not having been committed to them, but no such demand being proved, they are of opinion that the prayer of the petitions committed to them is unreasonable.

D.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of Elijah Brainard, Report :

That the petitioner asks pecuniary relief for a wound he states to have received, in the Revolutionary war.

Although there are some circumstances attending this claim which are peculiar to itself and would plead in the petitioner's favor, yet your committee do not see sufficient in it to distinguish it from other claims which are barred by the statute of limitations; your committee are therefore of opinion that the petitioner ought to have leave to withdraw his petition.
